The purpose of the fellowship is to permit students to study one of the less- or least-commonly-taught languages of the Americas or of the Middle East on an intensive basis. Undergraduate students must place at the intermediate level or above of language study. The fellowship provides a stipend of $2,500 to cover living expenses, plus up to $5,000 to cover tuition and fees for one summer session.

Who is eligible?
--Graduate, Professional School, and Undergraduate students enrolled full time at Duke in the regular academic years preceding and following this award;
--U.S. citizens or permanent residents;

Each center will conduct its own competition to award fellowships for the study of the language listed above.

Application deadline: Friday, February 2, 2018

For detailed application instructions, forms, and assistance with selecting eligible summer intensive language programs, contact:
Thomas Degeorges at DUMESC : thomas.degeorges@duke.edu or (919) 684-1745
Natalie Hartman at CLACS : njh@duke.edu or 919-681-3983

---

INFO SESSION

MONDAY, DEC 4 @ 12:00 PM

FRANKLIN CENTER 130/32 (2204 ERWIN ROAD)

LUNCH SERVED. PLEASE RSVP TO NJH@DUKE.EDU